"The Hawk"

The Hawk is the most feared bird in the world. They are a very intelligent species of bird of prey. Its sharp curved talons and powerful feet have a viselike grip to catch, crush, and carry off its prey.

Hawks build bulky, loosely constructed, but stable nests of twigs and bark. The males and females nest alone and defend their territory and privacy aggressively and vigorously from all other animals including other Hawks.

Female Hawks lay 2 to 6 eggs which hatch in 3 to 4 weeks. The male helps to hatch the eggs as well as to care for the young. Hawks sometimes mate for life and often use the same nest year after year.

Hawks seldom gather in groups, except during battles with other species. The Hawk has keen eye sight and travels with great speed.

Hawks rule the sky!

The Alma Mater

Verse 1

To thee, Dear Alma Mater
We raise our grateful song,
for thought thy noble teachings
Thou had made thy children strong;
And thousands still shall praise thee.
All earth shall hear their swell, and bind our hearts yet closer to thee we love so well.

Refrain

Maryland, Maryland home of Maroon and Gray
Maryland, Maryland, thee we will love always
All hail to thee fair Maryland , All glory be to thee!
Grow thou in strength and honor through all eternity.

Verse 2

We love thy spacious campus,
We love thy trowing halls,
And hallow'd are the lessons
We've learn'd within thy walls.
Stand thou forever glorious ,
Full rob'd in living green;
Shine thou in endless splendor beneath thy trees serene.

Refrain

History

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore had its origin on September 13, 1886. Initiated under the auspices of the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Delaware Conference Academy was established in Princess Anne on that date with nine students and one faculty.

Records reveal that 37 students were enrolled by the end of the year. Subsequently, the institution bore the title of Industrial Branch of Morgan State College, still under the influence of the Delaware Conference. As originally operated by Morgan State College under the control of the Methodist Church, the institution was known as Princess Anne Academy.

The State of Maryland, in operating its land-grant program at the Maryland Agricultural College at College Park, to which Afro-Americans were not admitted as students, sought to provide a Land-Grant program for Afro-Americans and assumed control of the Princess Anne Academy, renaming it the Eastern Shore Branch of the Maryland Agricultural College. The arrangement was effected in 1919.

In 1926, the College passed into complete control and ownership of the State and the University of Maryland was designated as the administrative agency. In 1948, the Eastern Shore Branch of the University of Maryland, popularly known as Princess Anne College, became officially Maryland State College, a Division of the University of Maryland.

On July 1, 1970, Maryland State College became the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. With the strong support of the Maryland Board of Regents, Systems Administration, and the faculty, UMES has developed an academic program above and perhaps more impressive than any other higher educational institution of its size in the East.

Today, the University offers major programs leading to the B.A. and B.S. degrees in 30 disciplines in the arts and sciences, professional studies and agricultural sciences. In addition, UMES presents 13 teaching degree programs and eight pre-professional programs, as well as an Honors Program designed in cooperation with the University of Maryland at Baltimore to prepare students for professional school study.

From its original building known as "Olney," constructed in 1798, when George Washington was still alive, the University now has over 700 acres, 28 major buildings and 41 other units. Today the University offers not only a well-constructed and varied academic program, but a beautiful campus. It provides today's student, through a versatile student life, an opportunity to develop into a well-rounded individual who is able to assume leadership in today's society. As the University of Maryland Eastern Shore enters its second century, it continues with an even greater vigor; the extent of progress and the apex of quality continue to expand.

Within the last decade, UMES has added 17 new degree-granting programs to its academic roster. Graduates of these programs often choose to remain on the Delmarva Peninsula, procuring careers in their areas of professional study, to benefit the region, particularly the Lower Eastern Shore. The prediction is that this local enrichment will continue as more students enroll in the University's programs of business and economics, physical therapy, hotel and restaurant management, poultry technology and management, and computer science. Likewise the outlook is good for the sciences, agriculture, liberal arts and graduate programs.

Greetings.

It is with tremendous honor and pleasure that I, as President of the Student Government Association of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore, extended congratulations and best wishes to the Class of 2006. During our last year at UMES we have been faced with many challenges of academics, economics, personal engagements, and emerged victorious. As you embark on a new path in the real world never forget the valuable lessons our institution as instilled in every graduate. As college graduates, you have accomplished a task only a small percentage of our generation has done. Remember your experiences here and that success shall prosper within arms reach because it is easier to succeed with HAWK PRIDE on your side.

I charge every graduate of the distinguished and magnificent Class of 2006 to continue to uplift our people whenever you see a need to give a helping hand. We are the examples of what our great founders dreamt of for this new generation of doctors, lawyers, presidents, and entrepreneurs.

It was and always will be a distinct pleasure to have served as SGA President for two consecutive terms during the 2004-2006 academic school years. You my fellow peers, allowed me to embrace you and provide new things for the new generation of hawks. If it were not for your continuous support I would not be in the position I am today. I thank you and love each of you unconditionally for making experience here one of the best. We are family and will continue to leave our marks on this prestigious institution of higher learning

Sincerely yours,

Terrell Fleming
President, Student Government Association 2004-2006

Mr. Terrell Fleming
PRESIDENT

Salutations prestigious Class of 2006,

We are embarking upon a journey, a journey full of life's joys and turmoils. As we embrace that coveted day in May of 2006, let us not forget the valuable lessons we have learned at the illustrious University of Maryland Eastern Shore. It has been four years of triumphs, defeats, and unforgettable moments that we shall cherish forever. As members of the class of 2006 takes their step into the real world I want them to know that you are were given the entire necessary tool to be successful. As a proud member of the class of 2006, I have been honored to know many of you on a personal, academic and social levels, this has given me the opportunity to gain an appreciation that will never be lost. These moments that I hold so dear to my heart, will not be as precious, if I did not have the support of my fellow hawks, the class of 2006. So I extend a sincere thank you to each and every one of you for your support and encouragement, as I lead us all to the land of great careers and unstoppable success. Each of us are gifted and have been given the tools to excel at any endeavor we wish to tackle thanks to the dedication of the UMES faculty and staff. So fellow hawks, be proud of what you have accomplished, be bold in all that you do, and most importantly remember to FLY HIGH, AND SOAR EVEN HIGHER. I will leave you with these few words of advice, from our current Miss UMES 2005-2006. In order to achieve great things in life, "We Must Lift the Vail of Ignorance off Our People and Rise to the Challenge of Excellence through Education." Stay strong and I hope the journey that we have taken thus far was a great one.

Sincerely yours,

Greetings Hawks,

Most people may think that yearbook is about just about taking pictures. Well let me be the first to tell you, that you are wrong. It is hard work and time consuming, and you have to be dedicated. This year I wanted the yearbook to be unique, but still have that Hawk Pride that had been seen in the previous years. So that meant I was in the office 24/7. This year was especially difficult because I had to build a yearbook staff from the ground up. I was the only existing member and had to have a staff that new what they where doing. There was no time for training and no time for games. We had to jump right into the book. But we prevailed and started a new trend for the yearbook, as well as brought it back to life. We have new faces, new ideas and a new book.

This book would not have been possible if it was not for that help of so many wonderful people. I would first like to give a thank you to Mr. Dwayne M. Walker. You keep me focused. And you made sure I was on my deadlines. Next I would like to thank Dr. Brown and Ms. Woolford. I know I was in the Student Affairs office almost everyday trying to get something for the yearbook office. Thank you both for putting up with my many demands and me. I cannot forget Mr. Whittiker, it was because of you that I even starting working for the yearbook and for that matter how to work on a yearbook. You showed me the ropes and what it meant to be a part of the staff. Last but not least I have to thank my staff, y'all have worked so hard, you all need to give yourselves a pat on the back. We completed this book done on time and it looks good.

I have to give a shout out to my man Brian, you were by my side at all times, and if you were not all I had to do is call and you would be there. I know with you on the staff the yearbook will get better year after year and eventually be great. And I have to shout out my Blue and White family. Girls we hang in there and cross into the wonderful land of the Zeta Phi Beta. It was hard to but we did it and I love all of you. So stay true Blue. Thank you all. I hope everyone enjoys the book as much as the staff and I enjoyed making it.

Departmental Activities

Although the Agriculture department is very small, they always have something going on. From Christmas parties to game nights to movie nights, they do it all. The mission of the Agriculture department is to provide students with an active learning environment. Not only does the department host many social events, but they have a whole farm to explore. From chicken, goats, sheep, cows, horses and pigs the students get the experience that they need. Keeping the philosophy of learning, discovery and engagement. They also have club's that many of the students engage in. Delta Tau Alpha (DTA), the Agriculture Honor Society. DTA provides high standards of scholarship, leadership and charter among agricultural students. Minorities in Agriculture, Natural Resources and Related Sciences (MANRRS). MANRRS members pledge to support endeavors that will always foster and promote the agricultural science and related fields among ethnic groups.

Hawk Basket Ball

The HAWKS and the community got their first look at this years Fighting Hawks at Midnight Madness. The squad is made up of nine freshman, two sophomores, two juniors, and three seniors.

A stand-out on this team is senior Tim Parham from Chicago, Illinois. Tim stands 6'9, 240 pounds. Earlier this year Tim removed himself from the NBA draft and decided to complete his college career with the Fighting Hawks. Last season he led the MEAC in rebounds per game and lead his team in points per game, rebounds per game, blocks per game, field goals and free throws made. This criminal justice major has high expectations for his team and is looking for a better year.

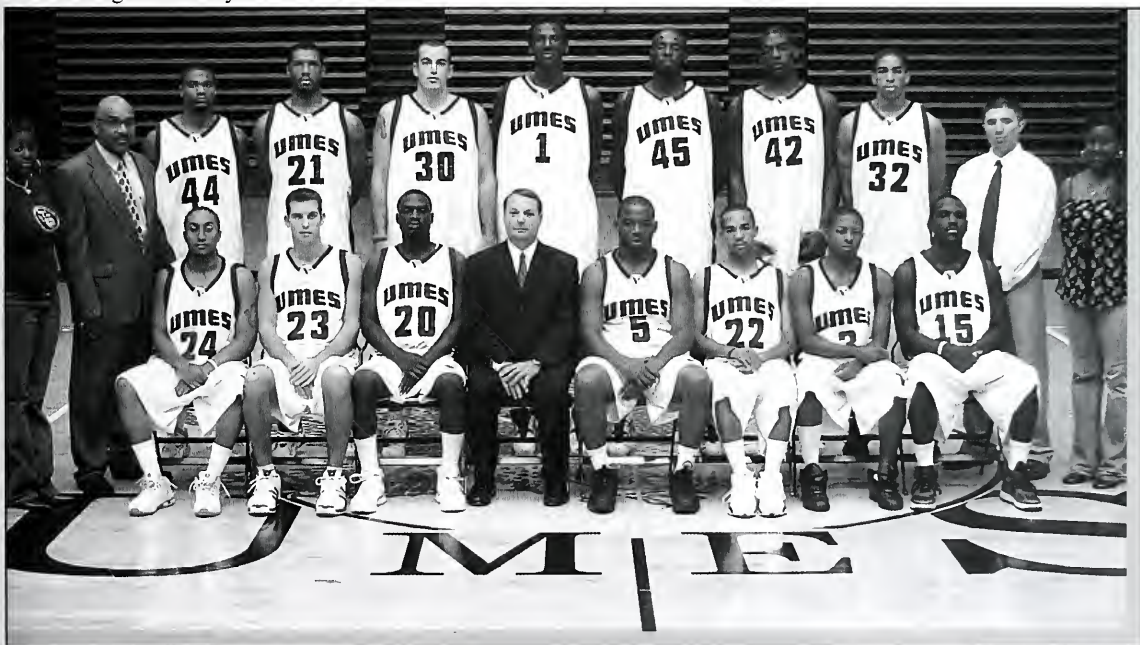

The team's schedule is a challenging one. The Hawks will face ranked teams like Iowa and Marshall. Majority of the games are played on the road and a couple of games will be played on ESPNU.

Hawk fans and the men's team are expecting a good and exciting season. LET'S GO HAWKS!!

U-uU-uU-M-m-M-m-E-e-E-e-S-s-S-s!! Who got the crowd more hype than our all-star cheerleaders.

The HAWK cheerleaders are made up of eleven freshman, eight sophomores and five juniors. They are coached by Crystal Blue and advisor, Coretta Ellison.

And don't think that cheering is just a "girl thing." This years squad was made up of three men including Brandon Flowers. Brandon was named to the MEAC Cheerleading All-Star First Team. Teammate Teresa Oxendine was also named to the MEAC Cheerleading Allstar Second Team. LET'S GO HAWKS!!!

“HOBO- more than just helping our brothers out”

Although they did not make the Hawks team, that did not hinder them from pursuing their goals. The all-freshman team dominated the intramural league. Besides working hard in school, the HOBO team worked extremely hard to have a successful season.

Without a sponsor, the HOBO team found a way to promote games, raise money for uniforms, and also buy equipment. With all of the obstacles in front of them, the HOBO team lead an undefeated season. Is it a coincidence that they're all from P.G.?

Rebirth

Of Student Life

A Candle Light Memorial was set up in the rotunda of the Student Service Center to honour the life of Alisha Coleman

The Hawk yearbook wanted to dedicate this page to Allisha Coleman, a fellow Hawk, who is now soaring high in the sky, watching us everyday. Allisha's life tragically ended on November 22, 2005, while traveling home for the Thanksgiving holiday. Allisha, was a full time student here at the University and would have graduated with honors on May 19, 2005 with a Bachelors Degree in Elementary Education. While here, she was a member of the Human Ecology Club, Gospel Choir, Todah Hands in Ministry, and the Drama Society. She also worked in the Child and Family Development Center. Allisha will truly be missed by the whole Hawk family, she will always be in our prayers.

Founders Day is a University Holiday that recognizes the founding of the university on September 13, 1886. But instead of it being one day, it is spread to a whole week of fun filled activities that focus on the history of the university. Some events that took place during this week included the Worship Service at the Metropolitan United Methodist Church. Then the dedication of Hazel Hall, Inauguration, Campus Queen, Convocation, outdoor Concert, fireworks and the Scholarship Dinner.

First Look Fair

The semester opened with the annual First Look Fair. Students had the opportunity to see what UMES had to offer. The SSC rotunda was filled with music and good food. While observing the different organizations, students could watch the Business Fashion Show. The fashion show was put on by the Career Services Department to show students the way to dress to impress. The show was hosted by FUBU's CEO, Keith Perringa and the fashion show coordinators. This event gave freshman and new students the opportunity to taste good food and get a First Look at the many organizations and services UMES had to offer.

Mmmm Crabs!!!

Can you think of a place where there is enough food to feed 2500 hungry students? Can you think of a place where college students can act like three year-olds? Well there is a place, and it was called SEPTEMBER FEST!!! This years SEPTEMBER FEST was held in the gym of the Hytche Center. Students filled their faces with all-you-can eat seafood, meat and dessert. After you filled up with delicious food you could climbed the enflatuable walls or race your friends through an enflatuable maze. Even though the weather outside was gloomy that day, the atmoshere in the Hytche Center was sunny and warm. Thanks to the wonderful Dining Services staff and the students from the Hotel and Resteraunt Management department, this years SEPTEMBER FEST was "off the hook."

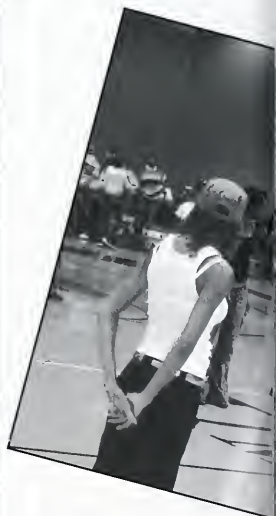

President Thompson accepted a check for $4,000 from the Perdue company.

Midnight Madness

On Friday, October 14, 2005, UMES pride was palpable as the Men and Women's Basketball team put on the Annual Midnight Madness.

Starting at 10 p.m., the William P. Hytche Athletic Center was filled with music, relay races, giveaways, performances, and basketball games that went on until midnight.

The Hawk Cheerleaders, Pom-Pom Squad, and Ambience, performed their own routines showing off their dancing to the latest music. The crowd cheered with anticipation as the lights dimmed and the Lady Hawks Basketball team took the floor. After they were done showcasing their talents the Men's Basketball team took the floor and proceeded to play a very animated game of their own.

The night ended with all of Hawk students, athletes, and faculty alike invigorated with Hawk Pride.

The clown "Biscuit" entertained the young hawk fans with balloons and treats.

MR. U.M.E.S.

Michael A. Cooper, Jr., the proud son of Michael, Sr. and Sarah Cooper, was born in Augsburg, Germany on July 4, 1984. Currently, he resides in Wilmington, Delaware. Upon graduating high school, Michael was offered an academic scholarship to attend the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Throughout his matriculation at UMES, Michael has maintained and surpassed the scholastic requirements of the University's Honor's Program. Michael, a senior, majoring in English with a minor in Spanish communications is extremely active on-campus. He has been involved in several student organizations including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the Alcohol, Tobacco, and other Drug Prevention Resource Center (ATOD), Reaching Our Opportunities Together Successfully Mentoring Program (R.O.O.T.S.), Campus Pals, and Sigma Tau Delta International English Honor Society Vice-President. Michael has also served his campus community as a resident assistant for the Office of Residence Life. His academic achievements include three consecutive years of being recognized for Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, three consecutive years as a National Dean's List recipient and recognition at each UMES Honors Convocation since 2002, as well as an inductee to Phi Kappa Phi honor society. After graduation, Michael plans to pursue law school and become a corporate lawyer, with the anticipation of being elevated to the Supreme Court. Michael truly believes that although the road ahead may seem impossible to travel, you must remain steadfast and unmovable and wait on the Lord. He is blessed that his parents instilled in him at a very young age, All things are possible through Christ who strengthens him.

MISS U.M.E.S.

Shalani Monique Vanterpool, the proud daughter of Wanda McClendon and Dexter Vanterpool, Sr. was born on September 3, 1984. She comes from an Island in America's Paradise, St. Thomas U.S. Virgin Islands. Miss Vanterpool is a senior majoring in Business Administration at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. She is a member of the Ambiance Dance Company, Caribbean International Club and a mentor for the Campusitals Program. Shalani is very active not only on the campus but in the surrounding community as well. She has been a Tutor for the Metropolitan United Methodist Church's after school program, volunteer for the annual Seagull Bike-A-thon, participant in the annual Walk for Multiple Sclerosis and many other community service projects. Upon graduation, Shalani plans to pursue graduate school and become an entrepreneur. She one day plans to open a School for the Performing Arts in her hometown. Shalani is definitely optimistic about her personal future and is truly blessed by God to be given talents that she utilizes to the best of her abilities. Whatever she focuses her attention and efforts on she tries her best to excel in. Her philosophy about life is to understand that struggle is proof that you have not yet been conquered!

HOMECOMING

UMES IDOL

Shatyra is currently matriculating at the University of Maryland, Eastern Shore, majoring in Criminal Justice. Even though she chose this major, her aspirations are to become a professional performer. She auditioned and was accepted as a member of UMES's Concert Choir during her first freshman semester, but later dropped this class because of its involvement, but singing using her God-given talents and gifts, is at the top of the list of Shatyra's favorite things to do.

In February 2006, Shatyra auditioned and was selected as Miss UMES Idol for 2006. During this homecoming weekend, she also auditioned and was selected to sing the National Anthem at the kickoff of the homecoming game as well as at the fashion show held during this week. During Shatyra's first semester at UMES, she auditioned as was selected to perform a solo in UMES' showcase of stars.

Shatyra is a 2005 graduate of ArchBishop Carroll High School in Radnor, PA. During her four-year stay at Carroll, she participated in most of the performing activities. Two of Shatyra's most memorable moments at Carroll were her role in the play production of "Footloose" and being selected to sing a solo, "Oh Taste and See", at her graduation. Shatyra is a life-long member of the Resurrection Baptist Church, and is a member of several of its ministries.

Concert

The UMES HOMECOMING Concert was held on Wednesday February 15, 2005. The gym was jam-packed with excited students ready to see the acts for the evening. As everyone was waiting for the show to begin, the dj for the night, DJ Mix-in-the-Mix, kept the crowd moving.

The show finally began around nine oclock, starting off with our very own UMES Idol, Shatyla Henry, singing the National Anthem. Afterwards, Jimmie Allen a young artist from Focus Entertainment sang his new single "Perfect Stranger.

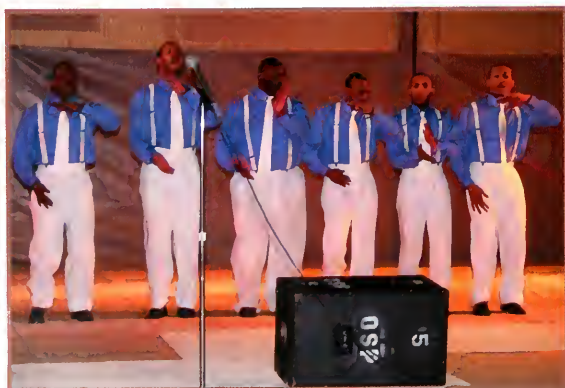

Afterwards, Trey Songz hit the stage with a few songs from his album. Next, was New York's own Remy Ma. Then Three 6 Mafia pumped the crowd up with their hit singles, "Poppin My Collar", and "Stay Flyy." Finally Beenie Sigel took over the stage and ended the best homecoming concert in 2006.

Starting the show off right, and doing it big for the ladies, was the Swing Phi Swing Organization. They took the crowd on a flight through the US, making stops in the Midwest, westcoast, eastcoast, and then down south. Never forgetting to rep Swing Phi Swing.

Next bringing the heat while the DJ kept the party going, was none other than the Sigmas with a unique performance that kept the crowd wanting more. The reigning champions, dressed in white pants, blue shirts and white suspenders came to reclaim their title.

Up next was the Alphas dressed in all black with "too hot to handle" shades on and the true gangster mug face.

With the crowd ready to see something wild, the wild and the best were saved for last. The Ques took ordinary splits, jumps, claps, and stomps to the extreme. The purple and the gold represented in a way the UMES had never seen before. Next HOMECOMING who will bring it?

In their second game against the Florida A@M Rattlers, the HAWKS were ready to retake their crown. The LADY HAWKS took the stage first and blew out the Rattlers with a score of 75-56. Toni Kennedy led the LADY HAWKS with a game-high 24 points. Kristi Veltcamp had a double-double with 15 points and 11 rebounds. After that exciting win the crowd was ready to see what their men's basketball team was going to do.

The first half was taken by the FAMU Rattlers with a score of 30-18. Although the HAWKS were down the crowd continued to cheer on their team. During the half-time the Alumni Inductees were presented, along with UMES SGA and the Emperical Court. UMES President made a grand appearance, looking beautiful as always.

The HAWKS came out in the second half fighting. At one point the Hawks were down by one point and the victory was in view. The game ended with a 83-72 loss. Troy Jackson scored a game high 23 points and Tim Parham grabbed 11 rebounds.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. This is particularly true for businesses that operate in a highly competitive market. By keeping detailed records, a business can better understand its financial performance and identify areas for improvement.

In addition, the paper highlights the need for transparency in financial reporting. This is especially important for companies that are publicly traded or have a large number of stakeholders. By providing clear and concise financial statements, a company can build trust with its investors and other interested parties.

The second part of the paper focuses on the role of technology in financial management. With the advent of digital tools and software, businesses now have access to a wide range of financial management solutions. These tools can help streamline financial processes, reduce errors, and provide real-time insights into a company's financial health.

However, it is important to note that technology is not a silver bullet. While it can certainly improve financial management, it is still essential for businesses to have a strong foundation in financial principles and practices. This includes understanding the basics of accounting, budgeting, and financial analysis.

Finally, the paper concludes by emphasizing the importance of ongoing education and training for financial professionals. The field of finance is constantly evolving, and professionals must stay up-to-date on the latest trends and best practices. This can be achieved through a combination of formal education, professional development programs, and hands-on experience.
